Patient for Fasciotomy “Herrmann”

The PHACON offers a variety of products for your surgical training as well as your marketing presentation. The PHACON products are used worldwide as a supplement and alternative to human preparations.

The PHACON Patients are anatomically detailed patients models based on real patient CT-data, that reflect the most diverse human tissue properties. The surgeon thus receives a haptic feedback that is comparable to the human patient - for a realistic surgical experience.

The PHACON Models are manufactured in Germany with the use of advanced detailed 3D printing as well as with high-level craftsmanship.

The PHACON Lower Leg Patients are artificial specimens to practice different surgeries on the lower leg. Like every PHACON Patient, it is perfect and cost-effective solution for your surgical training - as close real surgery as possible. It offers you also the possibility of presenting your surgical instruments in the realistic condition in the next congress.

PHACON Lower Leg Patient for Fasciotomy “Herrmann”

The PHACON Lower Leg Patient „Herrmann,, represents an 30 years old patient. It includes the right lower leg and foot, with normal anatomy without any pathologies. The foot is screwed and can be removed, if it is needed.

Patient „Herrmann,, is an anatomically detailed model that consist of many muscles, nerves, vessels and bone structure that serve as landmarks. This patient can be used for training of procedures such as four compartment fasciotomy of the lower leg or modern wound suturing techniques.

Furthermore, the skin on this model is cuttable and sewable. There is also subcutaneous fat layer integrated in the patient and all muscle compartments are surrounded by fascia layer. To make work with our PHACON Patient Lower Leg even more realistic, all vessels are blood filled and bleed when cutted.

The PHACON Lower Leg Patients can be reordered at PHACON any time.
